

3-Getting Help

The Quick Help button is very useful. I recommend that, whenever watching this tutorials, you always have it on.

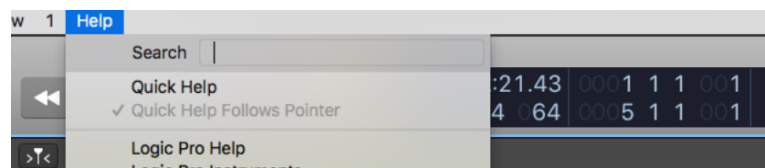

Not everything is shown by the Quick Help function. But you can find a quick help anywhere by leaving the mouse in a certain place for more than 2 seconds and Logic will tell you its name and in some cases include a nice explanation of it.

Search here, for specific functions in Logic Help > Search

And Logic will display a floating blue arrow to show you where that function is.

If, on the other side, what you are looking for are written articles or tutorials, you must open the Logic Pro Help. Help > Logic Pro Help
